Dear Edward:

Lifeline of Ohio applauds the efforts of the YNOTT Foundation's efforts to educate the public about the need for organ, tissue and eye donors and increase participation in the Ohio Donor Registry.

At the present time there are over 99,500 people on the United Network of Organ Sharing's waiting list. Nearly 100,000 men, women and children who -- just like yourself -- are waiting for the generosity of a stranger to give them a second chance at a healthy and productive future. Sadly, each day in this country, 19 of those individuals will die without receiving the organ transplant they so desperately need. This is a medical crisis of epic proportions, but one in which we all can play a role in solving. At the time of death, one organ donor can potentially save up to 8 people and help heal more than 50 others through tissue and eye donation. Registering as a donor is as simple as saying yes when asked at the Bureau of Motor Vehicles or registering on-line at www.donatelifehio.org.

Again, I thank you for the work you are doing to save and change lives.

Sincerely,

G. Kent Holloway
